

The Most Advanced Fast Ethernet Adapter for Mac OS, Windows and Linux/UNIX

There are no hard, fast blueprints to running a business. Or setting up a network. Often you'll find your instinct taking over, deciding what's best for you.

Reliability, Value and Support

Asanté engineers honed in on the top reasons why customers continue to choose Asanté over all other suppliers for Mac OS, Windows and Linux/UNIX-compatible products: reliability, value and support. One look at the new AsantéFast 10/100 Adapter and you'll know why we're so proud of our latest achievement.

Superior Technology
at an affordable price.

Superior Single Chip Technology

Asanté leads the Apple market again with the world's most advanced Fast Ethernet adapter. This new adapter features tighter integration than the LAN circuitry on even the latest Apple G4 and iMac machines.

The single chip design uses fewer parts, consumes less power and runs much cooler—which means you'll enjoy superior reliability. The streamlined design also allows the adapter to deliver outstanding performance and throughput.

Designed for the Real World: Drivers for Both Macs and PCs

Asanté continues to deliver exceptional value for your network. Running a mixed LAN with both Macs and PCs? With over a dozen different drivers, this AsantéFast adapter is the easy choice. Just install the adapter into any available PCI slot and load the drivers right from the CD-ROM. Everything you need is right on the disk (and on our website).

For Mac OS, Windows,
Linux and more

To simplify your installation, we've included two helpful accessories: a certified 10/100 Fast Ethernet cable (with molded strain relief) and comprehensive electronic documentation.

The Asanté Difference: Knowledgeable, Helpful Technical Support

A lot of companies can sell you a network adapter. Asanté can also show you how to make it work on your network—for FREE. Check out our 7/24 support options via web, FTP or BBS. During standard business hours, call our telephone support and you'll talk with a live technical support engineer who has years of experience installing networks with both Macs and PCs. Don't be surprised if we answer your question on your first call; we pride ourselves on having the very best support in the business.
